incandescent and celebratory paintings of cherry blossoms from damien hirst in a glorious oversize volume with 107 new works cherry blossoms marks a new chapter in damien hirst's career long exploration of the physical relationship between artist and canvas that began with his spot paintings in 1986 hirst describes his cherry blossoms as garish and messy and fragile the series signals a shift in hirst's career away from minimalism and the imagined mechanical painter toward a painting that delights in the potential haphazardness of the medium as well as the artist's own fallibility as a creator rich in color and striking in number hirst's cherry blossoms are both an appropriation and a tribute to the pictorial art of the 19th and 20th centuries damien hirst born 1965 rose to prominence in the 1990s as one of the young british artists garnering attention for his controversial site specific pieces a 1989 graduate of goldsmiths college hirst was awarded the turner prize in 1995 now one of the contemporary art world's most famous figures hirst continues to surprise audiences with a staggering diversity of work ranging from sculpture and painting to installation and performance art in 2012 a retrospective of his nearly 30 year career was staged at tate modern hirst is represented by gagosian in recent decades there has been many attempts to describe explore and explain the new post modern capitalism of the twenty first century in this context this book looks at one of the most exciting strands of this research in the late twentieth century the flexible specialisation research programme fsrp drawing on the history of ideas discourse and literature on capitalism of the last four decades this book shows that although flexible specialisation anticipated some of the ways in which capitalism was being transformed in the late twentieth century they underestimated and failed to anticipate the forms of creative destruction and corporate digital control which were becoming embedded in the global capitalist accumulation dynamic itself the sudden disappearance of the soviet union and the end of history failed to open up the pathway for new forms of modern social democracy but gave rise instead to the new digital behemoths today the classical tendencies of capitalism as anticipated by marx are all too present and despite talk of post capitalism and digital techno feudalism the landscape of monopolyfinance capital has consolidated itself the book counterposes the fsrp with the various marxist interpretations of the capitalist transition together with the wider social and economic theories that emerged in the first decades for the twenty first century around for example the great acceleration de growth and post growth this book will be of interest to all readers concerned with heterodox political economy critical social theory intellectual history and above all the prospects for social transformation leading to social justice and an egalitarian enlightenment following the rise of islamic fundamentalism muslim nations have been placed in the spotlight of international debate the prevailing understanding is that democracy and islam are fundamentally incompatible this verdict is particularly damning in light of the trend in international law which since the collapse of communism in eastern europe has equated democracy with human rights yet a thorough analysis of the debate taking into account the historical and theoretical bases of liberal democracy the cultural legal and political development of islam and the extent to which the politics of islamic countries represents the politics of islam reveals that democracy and islam are in fact fundamentally compatible in practice islamic law can be applied alongside developments in democratic representations and human rights

A revealing collection of quotations from world-renowned artist Damien Hirst, Hirstisms is a collection of quotations, bold, surprising, often humorous, and always insightful from celebrated artist Damien Hirst, whose controversial work explores the connections between art, religion, science, life, and death. Emerging in the 1990s as a leading member of the Young British Artists (YBAs), Hirst first became famous and gained a reputation as a provocateur with a series of artworks featuring dead and sometimes dissected animals, including a shark, sheep, and cow preserved in glass tanks filled with formaldehyde. Gathered from interviews and other primary sources and organized by subject, these quotations explore Hirst's early years, family life, and the beginnings of his fascination with art. The major themes of his work, his influences, and heroes, his motivation, his process, and the boundary pushing production of his work, and his thoughts on the art world, fame, and money. The result is a comprehensive and nuanced book that sheds new light on a fascinating and important contemporary artist. Select quotations from the book: "The less I feel like an artist, the better I feel. I like it when people love my art, I like it when people hate my art. I just don't want them to ignore my art. Painting is like the most fabulous illusion because there's nothing at stake except yourself. I'm interested in the confusion between art and life. I like it when the world gets in the way. Sometimes you have to step over the edge to know where it is." what is the cultural value of travel writing today how is the genre affected by instant communication and digital technologies this volume provides answers to these questions through adopting a transmedial perspective by comparing printed travel books and travel blogs notably it explores how different editorial and medial choices impact on the cultural practices of travelling and writing methodologically an ethnography is proposed via the discussion of a number of original interviews collected over three years with contemporary travel authors and bloggers who journeyed around and wrote about china these writers are from both the west the uk the usa italy france new zealand and china hong kong and the mainland as such the volume not only deconstructs the english centredness and ethnocentrism that often affect travel writing as a genre as well as many studies on it but it also renews the academic debate on the politics behind the genre connecting the texts with their spheres of production and reception the study shows the interdependence between medial and literary features on the one hand and the ways of journeying and writing about the experience which largely depend upon the biography of each writer on the other arthur c danto s essays not only critique bodies of work but reflect upon art s conceptual evolution as well drawing for the reader a kind of philosophical map indicating how art and the criteria for judging it has changed over the twentieth century in unnatural wonders the renowned critic finds himself at a point when contemporary art has become wholly pluralistic even chaotic with one medium as good as another and when the moment for the next thing has already passed so the theorist goes in search of contemporary art s most exhilarating achievements work that bridges the gap between art and life which he argues is now the definitive art of our time danto considers the work of such young artists as john currin and renee cox and older living masters including gerhard richter and sol lewitt he discusses artists of the new york school like philip guston and joan mitchell and international talents such as the south african william kentridge danto conducts a frank analysis of matthew barney s the cremaster cycle damien hirst s skeletons and anatomical models and barbara kruger s tchotchke ready slogans finds the ghost of henry james in the work of barnett newman and muses on recent whitney biennials and art influenced by 9 11 he argues that aesthetic considerations no longer play a central role in the experience and critique of art instead art addresses us in our humanity as men and women who seek meaning in the unnatural wonders of art a meaning that philosophy and religion are unable to provide
